Rejects 'Insult' to National Dignity

Cuba Sharply Raps Tone of U.S. Protest

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba Tuesday night rejected as "insulting" U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's condemnation of Fidel Castro for his implication that American officials were responsible for last Friday's munitions ship explosion in Havana harbor. Castro's propaganda apparatus today loudly hailed Foreign Minister Raul Roa's sharply worded statement rejecting Herter's protest. Another triumph for Cuba's "national dignity," said pro-government radio and TV stations. The propaganda organs used the latest development in the heated U.S.-Cuban word battle as the basis for new appeals for public donations to pay for arms to use against "foreign aggressors."

Roa's statement, made to U.S. charge d'Affaires Daniel M. Braddock, took offense at the tongue-lashing Herter gave Cuban Charge d'Affaires Enrique Patterson Monday. Roa demanded that the U.S. government, "whenever it addresses itself to the representative of the revolutionary government do so with absolute respect for their official status (and) without descending to offensive utterances of a personal character."

Herter charged that the fiery Cuban Prime Minister displayed an "unfounded and irresponsible attitude." The Cuban retort said Herter's statements had an "aggressive tone, derogatory to our national dignity."

Roa told Braddock the Cuban government is looking forward to giving "a proper reply" to the formal U.S. note of protest when it arrives. An international commission began an investigation of the ship explosion. The commission includes representatives of British firms with insurance interests in the ship or her cargo, representatives of the French ship's owners, French maritime experts, and explosives engineers from the Belgian firm that sold the cargo of munitions to Castro.

Chamber Seeking Executive Secretary

Contacts are being made by the Salem area Chamber of Commerce board of directors with C. of C. organizations around the country to get a replacement for Ronald Leigh, executive secretary, who has resigned, effective April 1.

The board reported at a meeting yesterday that it has contacted the United States Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Chamber of Commerce Executive Association in search of a successor to Mr. Leigh.

Mr. Leigh, secretary here for the past year, has accepted a position with the Gary, Ind., Chamber of Commerce.

The officers and directors of the Chamber worked on the constitution bylaws for the organization. When completed the bylaws will be sent to each member, with a vote to be taken after an adequate study period.

Negley Driver Faces Charge of Hit-Skip

A hit-skip driver was arrested at 1 a.m. today in North Lima, less than three hours after he damaged a car in Petersburg.

Arresting officers from the State Highway Patrol post at Canfield said they charged Edward Clair Slagle, 19, of RD 1, Negley, with failure to stop after an accident. They said they found Slagle in North Lima after they were given his license number by Arthur D. Colwell of Petersburg, whose parked car was damaged by Slagle. Slagle was cited to the Mahoning County Court at Boardman.

Senate Ends Continuous Rights Debate

Action Represents First Round Victory For Southern Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern senators could chalk up a first-round victory in the 1960 civil rights battle today as they confidently looked forward to another Thursday in the first major vote test.

Nevertheless, the likely final outcome remained the same as when the firing started Feb. 15—passage of a bill limited essentially to voting rights but still too strong for the Southerners and too weak for ardent civil righters.

Dixie Bloc Wins Round
The Dixie bloc won the initial round with a decision of the leaders Tuesday to call off around the clock sessions which had tied the Senate in knots through six all-night meetings.

The 18 Southern filibusters, using a three-team system, demonstrated they could keep going handily in this sort of marathon. One of their number still was holding forth when the Senate recessed at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday.

The signal for the end of non-stop session was the filing by 31 senators—23 Democrats and 8 Republicans—of a petition to shut off the talking marathon by invoking the cloture rule.

Vote Likely Thursday
The vote on this is likely to come at 11 a.m. Thursday. There appeared to be no chance it would win the required votes of two-thirds of the senators present.

Both Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) said the cloture move was premature and announced they would vote against it at this time.

Johnson made it clear he believes an adverse vote on cloture would merely encourage the Southerners, declaring the result "will prolong debate instead of curtailing it."

Dirksen and other Republicans who talked with Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the Senate floor Tuesday night, said afterward he had counted himself out of any effort now to round up the needed votes for cloture.

Expect Vote In Future
However, it seemed certain that Johnson and Dirksen did expect to get the necessary two-thirds for cloture at some future time.

Some senators believe the vehicle for a successful cloture vote eventually will be the House civil rights bill when it arrives in the Senate, probably next week. That branch opens its debate on the subject Thursday.

The House bill is expected to be less far-reaching than the proposals now before the Senate.

The Senate plans to continue its civil rights debate today.

There was a possibility of a vote on one of the strongest of the civil rights measures, a proposal to empower the attorney general to bring injunctions to enforce all types of rights.

Couple Unswayed From Plan to Give Away Unborn Child

LUTAN, England (AP)—The expecting Moores had a busy day today.

Yvonne Moore was packing for departure tonight for the United States, where she plans to give her unborn child to a South Carolina couple for adoption.

Leo Moore, the husband, was out in the back yard burning a second day's heap of what he called "abusive, anonymous letters."

The letters were severely critical of the Moores' decision to give their first baby to Wilbur and Billie Prescott of North Charleston, S. C.

Mrs. Moore, 39, is expecting the baby April 17. She flies tonight to New York by Iceland Airlines and through the courtesy of the Prescotts.

Moore, 40, said he had just about had enough of Lutan.

He announced he wants to sell his two-bedroom bungalow, follow his wife to America, and "start life again."

"These people who criticize us," said Moore, "don't understand our point of view. We are not being heartless."

Moore's mother, who has seven grandchildren by two other children, has pleaded in vain with her son and daughter-in-law and the Prescotts against the baby giveaway.

Nixon Surges Past Ike's Record Vote

Kennedy Scores Heavily In N. Hampshire

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential stock skyrocketed to new highs today as a result of his record-topping performance in the New Hampshire primary.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, unopposed on the Republican ballot, also smashed the GOP record.

With all but one of the state's 300 precincts reported from Tuesday's primary, the Massachusetts senator had 42,909 votes in the Democratic preferential poll. This more than doubled the highest figure heretofore rolled up by any other Democratic presidential aspirant in the New Hampshire election.

Nixon's complete total reached 65,077. The previous high, 56,464, was established in 1956 by President Eisenhower.

The New Hampshire election was the first of 16 state presidential primaries.

Despite Nixon's record vote, Kennedy broke down the tradition, al 2-1 Republican margin of superiority in the state. The ratio in Tuesday's election was about 3-2.

Two significant results of the election were immediately apparent:

1. Nixon's spectacular showing should go a long way toward dispelling the last remnants of any Nixon-can't-win talk. The vice president did not come to New Hampshire to campaign personally. Top GOP leaders in the state carried the burden of his campaign.

2. Kennedy, already considered one of the leading Democratic presidential candidates, if not the front runner, moved closer to the center of the spotlight. His most enthusiastic supporters had not dared go above 38,000 in their forecasts of his poll in the "beauty contest."

Gov. Wesley Powell of New Hampshire, chairman of the Nixon-for-President Committee, had predicted that Nixon would exceed forecasts of his poll in the "beauty contest."

Appeals Court Sits At Lisbon

Dismisses 2 Cases, Considers 3 Others

LISBON — The Seventh District Court of appeals, meeting here took three under consideration, continued one for a State Supreme court ruling and allowed briefs to be filed by April 1 and set oral arguments for April 15 at 1 p.m. in Youngstown after briefs are filed.

The appellate judges heard the appeal of a 1958 conviction for burglary of the Burbuck hardware by Louis A. Stutler, former East Liverpool policeman, and gave defendant Ira Cunningham, also a former East Liverpool policeman, until April 1 to file briefs in his conviction of attempting to bribe a juror at his 1959 burglary trial.

Cunningham and Stutler were among seven police officers indicted in the East Liverpool burglary scandal.

Prince Philip to Give Bride Away

Princess Margaret's Wedding Set for May 6

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret will be married at Westminster Abbey on May 6 with the archbishop of Canterbury officiating. Buckingham Palace announced today.

Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II and Margaret's brother-in-law, will give the bride away.

The palace announcement did not mention a title for Margaret's fiancée, former society photographer Anthony Armstrong-Jones. It is generally expected that he will be elevated to the peerage, and probably will be made a marquess, before the wedding.

The announcement from Clarence House, London home of Margaret and Queen Mother Elizabeth, said it would be a morning wedding, at 11:30.

The bridesmaids and best man were not named.

Margaret's sister, the Queen, and Prince Philip also were married at the Abbey, on Nov. 20, 1947, with the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, officiating. He is the highest prelate of the Church of England.

The marriage of Elizabeth, then a princess, was broadcast. The British Broadcasting Corp. wants to televise Margaret's wedding, and Britain's commercial television network probably will ask to do likewise.

The marriage will take place two and a half months before Margaret's 30th birthday, which falls on Aug. 21. Armstrong-Jones was 30 on Monday.

The Daily Mail, which correctly predicted the date this morning, said Princess Alexandra and Princess Anne were certain to be bridesmaids, and that Prince Charles, the heir to the throne, might be a page.

The wedding is likely to jam London with the biggest crowds since Elizabeth's coronation in 1952.

The Daily Mirror said that Armstrong-Jones, who has had some slight experience as a designer of women's sports togs, is designing Margaret's wedding dress.

"He has already completed the rough sketches which will form the basic plan for the royal dressmaker," the newspaper said, "and he is now discussing his ideas with the princess."

The engagement of Margaret and Armstrong-Jones was announced on Feb. 26.

Burke Blasts Cuyahoga Board

Plans Appeal to Ohio Supreme Court

CLEVELAND (AP)—Former U.S. Thomas A. Burke has accused the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections of arrogantly disregarding the law "to suit its own convenience."

Burke, also a former Cleveland mayor, said Tuesday he would go directly to the Ohio Supreme Court to appeal the election board's decision allowing Thomas F. Burke to remain on the Democratic ballot as candidate for delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

The similarly named Burke is running against former Senator Burke in the 23rd District as a candidate pledged only to himself as a "favorite son."

The former senator is running on the delegate slate of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Political observers say splitting the Burke vote would help candidates filed in the 23rd District by the county Democratic organization in opposition to DiSalle's slate.

"Whether or not a Thomas F. Burke is on the ballot... is of very little importance," said the ex-senator. "But it is important that the board of elections not be permitted to ignore the facts..."

The ex-senator asserted that T. F. Burke did not comply with residency requirements and pointed out that Secretary of State Ted W. Brown gave the opinion last week that residency requirements had not been met.

Hope Increases For Men In W. Virginia Pit

Blaze Under Control; Rescuers Within 500 Feet of Miners

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—A rescue crew has worked its way behind the fire that has trapped 18 men four miles in a coal mine for more than 24 hours.

How they did it wasn't known, but an Island Creek Coal Co. spokesman said the fire was definitely under control and had been bypassed, perhaps by means of a tunnel parallel to the gas and fume-filled section of the mine.

Close To Trapped Men
"They (the crew) should be within 500 feet of where the trapped men are believed to have barricaded themselves," the spokesman said.

The word raised hopes again that the miners would be rescued alive.

"We're very hopeful," said N.T. Camicia, vice president of operations.

Outside the mine, eight miles southwest of here, near the Kentucky border, men manning the crews and marshaling materials outnumbered the crowd of relatives and others, thinned by the bitter weather.

New snow, up to four inches, was forecast for the area, and temperatures were in the teens. The snow started soon after daybreak, and mountain roads in the area were turned into slick slides, impeding travel.

Rush Calls For Plows
State police sent a rush call to the Road Commission for cinderling crews and plows.

"We assume that the trapped men have barricaded themselves off," said Robert M. Johnson, manager of Island Creek. The company's Holden 22 mine is eight miles from this southern West Virginia city.

Safety Director Trapped
Johnson said one of those trapped is William K. Donaldson, mine safety director, who could guide the men in survival tactics.

"He's had experience with this sort of emergency," said Johnson. The manager said flames had broken out on both sides of the slate fall. A team of 40 men battled in smoke and fumes to put out the blaze that ate into coal and slate and timber props.

Also optimistic was Crawford L. Wilson, the state mines chief who arrived here about 5 a.m. and conferred with mine officials for 15 minutes. Afterward he said, "our hopes are high."

"We are confident the fire has been contained," Wilson said. "There is no evidence of fire being visible, but there is steam and heat. Plans are made to proceed with fresh air to the area where we think the men are."

She was first brought to Salem City Hospital and later transferred to Youngstown.

Exact cause of death was to be determined by an autopsy today. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home.

Storm With Castro Exception to Picture U.S.-Latin American Relations At All-Time High, Ike Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says relations between the United States and Latin America have reached "an all-time high."

But a growing diplomatic storm with the Fidel Castro government of Cuba provided a sharp exception to the general picture Eisenhower painted in a nationwide television address Tuesday night.

Eisenhower made no reference to Cuba as he reported to the American people on his 15,560-mile tour of four South American countries. Despite the excellent relations he reported, he said there were some notable exceptions.

"An even firmer partnership must be our goal," he added.

Shortly before he spoke, Cuba rejected an insulting statement by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Monday denouncing implications by Castro that U.S. sabotage may have been involved in last week's explosion of an ammunition ship in Havana.

Herter had called the accusation try's intentions to do what it can to help them speed their industrial development.

Diversification of agriculture and industry, Eisenhower said, would help many of the countries which depend for their economic well-being largely on a single product, such as coffee.

Finch Jury Continues Deliberations

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "How long is an inch?"

The jury weighing the guilt or innocence of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff, interrupted their deliberations Tuesday to ask that question.

A bailiff — summoned by the jury foreman — began to search for a ruler. But he was called back.

"Never mind," he was told. "We have one."

They didn't explain but one guess was that they wanted to measure something on a scale map of the area in which the Finch home is located.

Dr. Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, are charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder. Both crimes carry a possible death penalty.

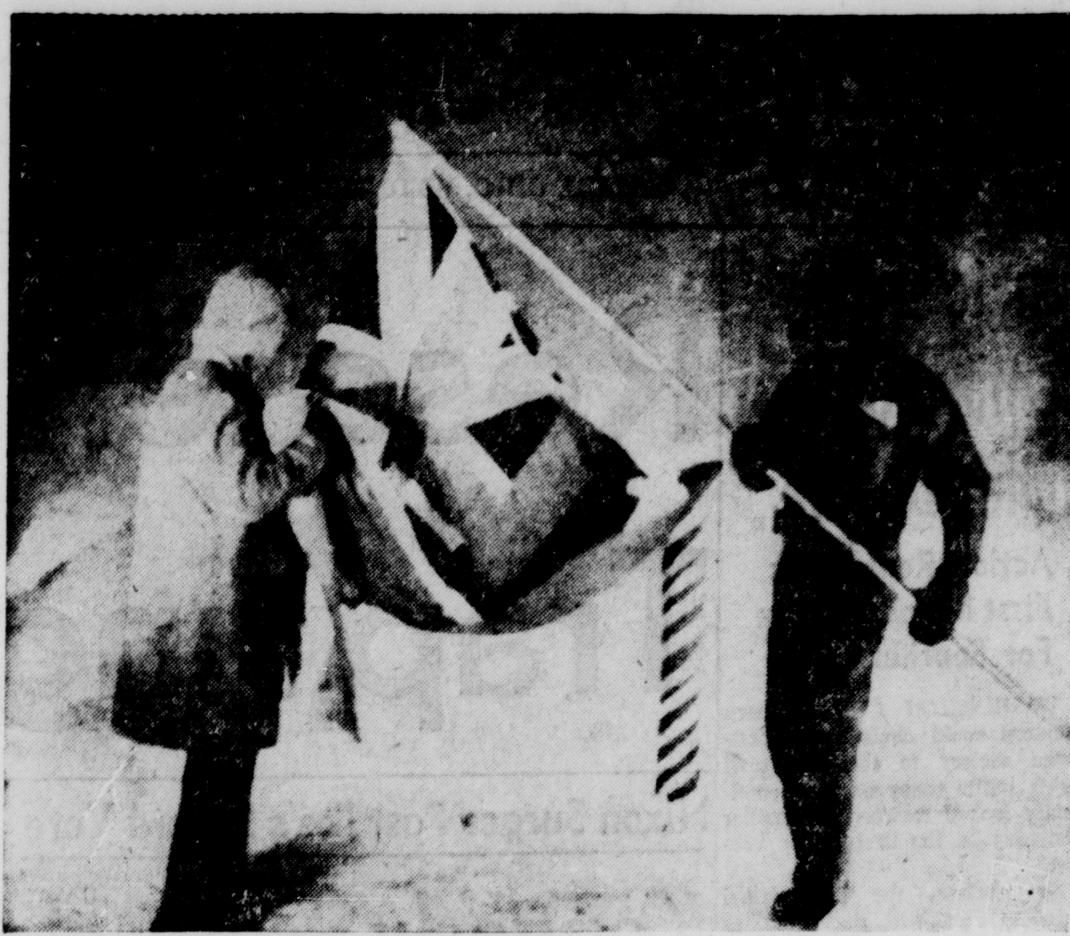

The five men and seven women of the jury were given the case late Friday.

So far, they have spent only little more than 12 hours in the cheerless little jury room.

Soon after starting deliberations they asked to be read more than 400 pages of testimony—much of it dealing with the doctor's own story of what happened the night his wife, Barbara Jean, 36, was shot to death last July 18.

The state says she was murdered. Dr. Finch says a pistol discharged accidentally, fatally wounding her, as he tried to throw it away.

The reading was completed Tuesday and the jury spent more than three hours in the bare-walled room, seated in hard-wood chairs at a bare, end-to-end pair of tables.

7 Escape Death As Air Force Jet Crashes In Fog

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Seven men escaped death as an Air Force jet tanker sliced off a power pole, unroofed a small building and crashed in thick fog Tuesday night.

The craft, a KC135, struck with a heavy roar 500 feet off the south end of the main runway at Carswell Air Force Base, where it was assigned to the 7th Air Refueling Squadron. It was one of the planes used by the Strategic Air Command for speedy in-flight refueling of the U.S. global bomber fleet.

Two men suffered burns and two others broken ankles. Base hospital attendants dismissed the other three after checkups.

Groping toward the field in zero visibility, the plane struck at 11:23 p.m. after taking the top off a state highway department warehouse, Texas Electric Service Co. troubleshooters timed the crash from a flash on a control panel for spotting cable breaks.

Lights went off in the River Oaks district, a residential area occupied by many servicemen opposite Carswell on Fort Worth's northwest side. Service was restored to most houses in a few minutes.

Listed as injured were Maj. William A. Krouse and Capt. Charles A. Forbes, the copilot, both with burns; and Maj. Raymond A. Yahr and Sgt. Robert C. Newman, boom operator, both with broken ankles.

Others aboard were Capt. Everett Caudell, the pilot; Lt. James B. Lewis, navigator; and Lt. Col. Kenneth N. Morse, flight surgeon.

Census Office Will Recruit Enumerators

Examinations for enumerators (census takers) who will work the Federal Decennial census beginning April 1 commenced this week at the District Office, 332 Adams St., Steubenville.

Applicants for the enumerator jobs may report to the District Office for the exams or may wait till a later date and take the exams at Salem, Lisbon or Wellsville.

Applicants will be notified about five days prior to the tests as to the exact time and place of the tests within these cities. It is expected they will begin around March 21.

Howard M. Bordon, supervisor of the district office in Steubenville, announced the appointments of crew leaders who will train and recruit census takers.

In Columbiana County, those named are Wade A. Loop of 565 Franklin Ave., Salem; Mrs. Ruth H. Nicolaus of Wellsville; Mrs. Rosamond Matvei, RD 4, Lisbon; Mrs. Alpharetta Merwin of East Palestine, and Ray Neidengard of East Liverpool.

Bordon said the crew leaders also will be responsible for planning and allocating of work assignments, reviewing the work of census takers and for taking remedial action where necessary and for handling problems of difficult enumeration.

Morton Lewis of New York, assistant treasurer of Columbia Gas, recommended the commission approve a 6.75 per cent rate of return.

John H. Zerbe of Akron, representing East Liverpool, Steubenville, Martins Ferry, Wellsville, Bellaire and other communities objecting to the increase, will present his arguments after the commission.

Ralph N. Mahaffey, former chief examiner for the commission and now an attorney for Ohio Valley, said a lower wholesale rate approved by the Federal Power Commission for Manufacturer's Light & Heat—from which Ohio Valley gets most of its gas—means Ohio Valley can ask for less than originally supposed.

The present rate, he said, is 15.42 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,000 cubic feet, 7.625 cents per 100 for the next 4,000, and 7.425 per 100 for all over 5,000.

The new rate, Mahaffey explained, is one cent less per 1,000 cubic feet in each step than one proposed by the utility in January. It is 29.9 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,000, 7.7 for the next 99,000, 7.4 for the next 200,000, 5.725 for the next 5,000,000, 5.4 for the next 10,000,000, 4.85 for the next 18,000,000, and 4.4 for the next 200,000,000.

Mahaffey said it represents a 15 per cent increase, or about $98,600 a year, compared with a 16 per cent, $1,200,000 increase first proposed two months ago.

All three commissioners are hearing the case.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Doctor Tells Truth About Food Fallacies

Like superstitions, most false ideas about food are handed down from generation to generation. Usually the fallacy is innocently transmitted by word of mouth from an elder person to an unquestioning youngster. Occasionally it is started and maintained by a well-meaning food faddist who genuinely believes in the truth of his claims but whose uncritical enthusiasm and lack of basic knowledge prevent an unbiased judgment of available facts. And finally, at times, false statements and claims are made by food quacks for commercial exploitation of a special product in which they have a financial interest.

HERE IS AN INCOMPLETE list of some of the more popular fallacies you're apt to run into in your daily life. Following each is a brief comment or statement of the facts, as known to reputable dietitians and other students of body chemistry.

Fallacy—Acid foods cause rheumatic "acid conditions" in the body. Fact—Citrus foods burn with an alkaline ash.

Fallacy—Acid foods cause rheumatic diseases. Fact—Rheumatic diseases, other than gout, are unrelated to diet.

Fallacy—Eating starches and proteins at the same meal aggravates rheumatic conditions. Fact—The body is fully equipped to carry out all types of digestion at one and the same time.

Fallacy—Drinking water at meal causes obesity. Fact—The caloric value of foods is unchanged by addition of fluid.

Fallacy—Red meat produces an elevation of blood pressure. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Fish is a brain food. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Carrots cause the hair to curl. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Onions and garlic purify the blood. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Oysters, celery, celery tonic and wheat germ oil promote fertility. Fact—Nonsense.

FALLACY — Excessive indulgence in ice cream sodas may result in a lime incrustation of the lining of the intestines. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Drinking water after eating a banana may cause fatal indigestion. Fact—Nonsense.

Fallacy—Raw eggs are more nutritious than cooked eggs. Fact—The best way to eat and digest eggs is to hard-boil them and grate them.

Fallacy—Raw milk contains elements that are destroyed by pasteurization. Fact—Nonsense, unless the reference is to bacteria, like the tubercle bacillus and the organism that causes Bang's disease in cattle and undulant fever (brucellosis) in humans.

Fallacy—Soured milks contain nutritive elements that are missing in sweet milk. Fact—Souring adds nothing but unpleasant smell and flavor.

Fallacy—Milk is digested best when it's sipped. Fact—Gulping down milk produces the finest curd.

FALLACY—BEEF blood or juice and chicken broth are highly nutritious. Fact—Neither yields as much nutriment as a half slice of bread.

Fallacy—Natural foods, like nuts and raw fruits, are superior to cooked foods. Fact—Nonsense. The tough fiber of coarse foods requires softening by cooking.

Fallacy—Fresh foods are better than frozen or canned foods. Fact—Fresh foods are never "fresh" by the time they get to anyone other than the person who picked them. Only quick freezing and canning insure the "freshness" of foods.

Fallacy—Milk is the "perfect food" and can be used as the exclusive diet in infancy and early childhood. Fact—Milk is deficient in iron, and a so-called "bottle anemia" develops in children who've not been given iron-containing foods in their diet.

Schaffer Murder Case Goes to Jury Soon

FRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Only the concluding arguments of the defense and the state remain today before the jury decides whether Billy Joe Schaffer, 25, is guilty or innocent of killing his former school teacher, Mrs. Emma Remy, 75, in a 28-cent robbery.

Schaffer, an ex-convict, is on trial for life. He is accused of strangling Mrs. Remy and setting her home on fire.

Dr. Henry Luidens, superintendent of Lima State Hospital and a rebuttal witness for the state, testified Tuesday that Schaffer knows right from wrong. Schaffer had been held for a 30-day observation period at the hospital. He is pleading innocent by reason of insanity.

Earlier in the trial Dr. Julius Hoffman, Columbus psychiatrist, testifying for the defense, described Schaffer as a psychopath, a braggart and a liar. He said Schaffer is "sick," but admitted under cross-examination that Schaffer knows right from wrong.

Public Policy on Compact Cars

Reports from a number of sources indicate that government officials at all political levels are scratching their heads over what their policy should be on the new compact cars. As with most public policy, there are two sides to the issue.

The National Institute of Governmental Purchasing has reported an increasing trend toward purchase of small cars for economy reasons. Many cities have tried the little autos and found them highly successful. One even discovered that they are cheaper to buy and operate than motorcycles formerly used to check overtime parking.

The federal government and a number of state governments also have started to swing to the miniatures.

On the other hand, fiscal officials are beginning to voice alarm at the effect of the switch to compacts on public revenues — taxes on auto sales, motor fuel, tires, parts and accessories and license tag fees (in those states where the latter are based on the size of weight or cost of the car).

The Bureau of Public Roads, which has not appraised the effect of the trend because of inadequate statistics to date, nevertheless has declared that for each 10 per cent of standard automobile registrations replaced by compact or light vehicles, there is an indicated reduction in Highway Trust Fund revenues of between 1.5 and 2 per cent. This, the bureau says, could amount to as much as 50 million dollars a year.

That would be bad news for both Congress and the administration, who are engaged annually in a struggle to keep the interstate road program moving ahead with adequate financing.

There are some optimistic voices, of course, who say that the appeal of the compacts is to that increasing number of American families who want second cars. A petroleum industry executive has said this factor ultimately will mean an increase rather than a decrease in motor fuel use.

Until more definite data are available, though, public officials will continue to wonder what they ought to do. If they join the compact bandwagon, it will provide a psychological shot in the arm for the already burgeoning swing to small cars, which in turn could result in a substantial drop in highway revenues.

Or there is the possibility that the swing to compacts, independently of what government agencies do, may force the public officials to resort to compacts as a way of living within their reduced revenues.

Mr. Butler Shows Poor Taste

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler probably will live to rue the day he tried to blame President Eisenhower personally for the deaths of a group of Navy bandmen in an airplane collision over Rio de Janeiro.

In a political debate recently, Mr. Butler questioned the Chief Executive's right to request the band's presence at an official dinner during his Latin American tour and said Mr. Eisenhower "has something to answer for" to the families of the dead sailors.

Reports of the President's reaction to the news of the tragedy indicated that he does indeed feel a personal involvement. But this would stem from the human sympathy by which men share each other's sorrows rather than from any error in the President's official responsibility for the bandmen's presence on the ill-fated airplane.

The right of the Commander-in-Chief to request the performance at an official function of an armed forces band is undeniable. That is one of the reasons for the existence of such units in every branch of our military services. It is done all the time, and it is as feasible that a busload of bandmen could be killed in a traffic accident en route to a Washington reception as it is that a plane load of them could be killed en route to a foreign capital.

The Navy band was not in Latin America solely for the President's tour. It was there as part of a cultural exchange program, and it seems only logical that since it was in the neighborhood it should be called upon to help Mr. Eisenhower entertain his Brazilian hosts.

As has been pointed out repeatedly since the tragic accident, service bands travel all over the world. Every time one of them boards a ship, a plane, a bus or a train, there is a risk involved. It is ridiculous and cruel to charge — from hindsight — that the rare accident could have been averted if the official orders to travel had not been issued.

Mr. Butler has done neither himself nor his party a service in stooping to the base position of trying to make political hay out of a tragic situation. It is to be hoped that his ill-considered statement is not the keynote of the kind of presidential campaign he plans to wage this year.

Those night people known as the Ku Klux Klan are attempting to hoodwink the land with boasts of membership ranging from 42,000 to 100,000 klavens-ites. They lie. The truth — according to authentic statistics made available to this column — is that the South and the North, working people as well as in a large number of considerable ment and owners property, have repudiated the Klan.

Not since its first day in Pulaski, Tenn., almost 100 years ago, has it had fewer members. It has gained little from its efforts to exploit the bitter Senate debate. It can be revealed that there are some 8,500 actual Klan members. But even this is a misleading figure.

There literally is no "Klan." There are 20 Klans. These have some 200 Klavens — cells. Many of them feud viciously over the few dollars which the "movement" can make out of its effort to turn the segregationist issue into a racket.

AS THE MEMBERSHIP declines, the civil war among the Klans will become sharper. There are plans to attack each other. And membership is dwindling at the moment.

The KKK movement was at its grimmest height of recent years on Jan. 1, 1959, when the investigators for several important state agencies and the federal government itself agreed that there were 15,000 Klansmen. In one year the hooded ones lost virtually half their night comrades.

A band of Klansmen, which met over the Feb. 27 weekend, talked of 42,000 followers. They claimed these cross burners came from 17 states.

Fact is the men — if you'll forgive me the expression — who met in Atlanta, Ga., represented themselves and perhaps 200 more.

Veterans of the existing Klans have privately referred to them as

"renegade carpetbaggers who had been kicked out of the Klan several years ago."

These old timers, the truly ugly Americans themselves, represent such units as the National Anti-Communist Legionnaires (no relation to the American Legion, of course) and the U.S. Klans.

There are also units on the subversive list of the U.S. attorney general, issued under presidential executive order 10450, such as the Associated Klans of America, The Assn. of Georgia Klans, Knights of the White Camelia and the Original Southern Klans, Inc.

ALWAYS SEARCHING for a buck, some Klan units have tried to muscle in on the labor field. Two years ago there appeared in Fort Mill, S.C., something calling itself "The United Southern Employees Assn."

The leader told a meeting of the local Klan Klavens that any KKKer was automatically a member of the USEA. He guaranteed that they, therefore, could walk through picket lines of any AFL-CIO union.

In a short time, the AEEA practically disappeared. Neither the working men nor management would go anywhere near it.

In all there are 20 KKK organizations. They are most active in North Carolina, Florida and Georgia in that order.

There are Klavens in Alabama, Arkansas, South Carolina, one or two in Texas and Tennessee. Most of the 20 units are under constant FBI surveillance and can plan nothing without the government knowing it within a few hours.

There are authentic reports of Klan units trying to move into crowded northern industrial areas. The objectives are New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. This was announced in the Atlanta Klavens klatch the other weekend. The "drive" is interpreted as a bid for money from the gullible.

Police units in some of these northern areas have been alerted. But the hoods up north are still the garden variety muscle men — who themselves aren't apt to be neighborly to any night riding invaders.

Butler's Low Blow

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Dems' Chairman Apologizes for Attack on Ike

It's a tribute to the good sense of American politicians that hitting below the belt is, indeed, rare. That's why the reprehensible attack by Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, upon President Eisenhower stands out as a "naughty deed" in a world of decent politics.

Mr. Butler must have suddenly lost his poise when he told an audience in the question period after a joint debate Sunday night that "President Eisenhower has something to answer for to the wives and children of the Navy men" who died in the air collision near Rio de Janeiro of Feb. 25. The Democratic national chairman added:

"What right has he (the President) to take the Navy Band on a trip around the world? Was this trip a political show or something?"

Now, it so happens that right after the disaster the Navy Department in Washington issued a statement which said:

"The Navy Band was scheduled to make the South American tour in February and March to take advantage of the transportation which could be provided by the cruiser Macon. As their visit would coincide with that of the President, the chief of naval operations made the band available to the U.S. ambassadors in the respective countries concerned to play for official ceremonies in addition to the usual public concerts."

BUT MR. BUTLER evidently didn't read this in the newspapers or preferred to ignore it. Adm. Arleigh Burke, when asked on Monday of this week about the Butler statement, declared that he and he alone, as chief of naval operations, decided to send the Navy Band on its South American tour.

Navy officials noted that their previous statement had said explicitly that "the South American tour of the Navy Band was not scheduled by or at the request of the White House."

Chairman Butler fared an apology to a news conference on the day after his attack and claimed that he didn't intend to implicate President Eisenhower personally. He added:

"For any such inference that may have been drawn, I want to apologize to the President."

What did Chairman Butler expect to gain in the first place by his ill-considered attempt to fasten upon President Eisenhower any responsibility whatsoever for the deaths of 19 bandmen in the air crash which occurred during the President's visit to Brazil?

Did he believe that the voters would be prejudiced against the Republicans by a statement which distorted the facts.

It might be asked also whether Mr. Eisenhower has become officially responsible for any mistakes of the pilots that led to the collision at Rio.

Is he similarly responsible for the deaths of the crew and the naval personnel who happened to be traveling from Buenos Aires to Rio de Janeiro on the same plane, after assisting in the search for an unidentified submarine in Argentine waters?

According to Mr. Butler's alleged logic, the President or his administration should be held responsible for what happens to all military personnel in airplane accidents and presumably also for any mishaps involving persons traveling on "cultural exchanges" to other countries.

CHAIRMAN BUTLER'S intemperate remarks were answered by Sen. Hugh Scott, Republican, at the Worcester, Mass., debate, with the following comment:

"This attempt on your part to bloody the hands of the President is not very creditable."

Politics is a free-slugging match in the main but the kind of attack of which Chairman Butler is guilty is almost unheard of.

It tends to weaken his own position as a leader of his party and no doubt will strengthen the movement inside the Democratic party to oust him from the chairmanship after the next national convention in Los Angeles.

Already the Southerners are up in arms over statements by Mr. Butler virtually reading the Southern Democrats out of the party.

The task of a national chairman hitherto has been believed to be to harmonize rather than to disorganize. Mr. Butler's remarks have not been calculated to preserve unity in the Democratic party.

This latest outburst against the President is bound to boomerang. Instead of gaining votes, it could be the means of losing votes for the Democrats. When attacks go to extremes, arguments on other topics simply do not carry the conviction they otherwise might.

Many people may not understand, of course, that, when the President takes a trip to a foreign country, the people of that country appreciate any special courtesies. The more colorful the ceremonies, the deeper the impression made. To charge the President with any responsibility, official or otherwise, for the deaths of the Navy bandmen in the airplane accident is about as farfetched and fantastic as to charge the chairman of the Democratic National Committee with responsibility for the physical collapse of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut at the Democratic fund raising dinner at Miami, Fla., last week.

Dear Pavement Plato

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Dear Pavement Plato:

"My girl is pretty, red-haired, has a fine job, stands to inherit money, and can cook better than a French chef.

"We get along fine, but she says that when I kiss her she gets goose pimples. What should I do?" —Perplexed.

Dear Perplexed: Marry her, son. What else could you be looking for in life?

Dear Plato: "My friends all joke at me because they say I am getting too fat. But actually I am not fat at all. I just look fat because I wear double-breasted winter underwear to keep me warm. What would you do if you were me?" —Pudge.

Dear Pudge: Move to Florida, or give yourself up to the Smithsonian Institution.

Dear Plato: "I have an etiquette problem. Is it okay to write love letters with a typewriter on business stationery, or should they be written in pen and ink on personal stationery?" —Proper Scall.

Dear Proper Scall: Neither. The only safe way to write love letters is by hand, in sand, and while the tide is coming in.

Dear Plato: "I am 18 years old. I just graduated from a pergressive hi skool, where my favrut subject was English compuhshion.

"My gole in life is to bekum a beatnik writer. Have you enny good advise for me?" —Ambishus.

Dear Ambishus: Yes. The first thing for you to do is to throw away your spelling book. It has already begun to cramp your style.

Dear Plato: "I am concerned about my son. He is 17 years old, hates rock 'n' roll music, never has smoked marijuana or carried a switchblade knife. He doesn't date steady, never wants to borrow the family car, and spends all his spare time working to earn enough money to pay his own way through college.

"What should I do with this paragon of a boy?" —Uneasy.

Dear Uneasy: This kid sounds dangerous. Obviously, must be hiding something. Beat him until he confesses.

Dear Plato: "My wife and I don't get along very well. Lately, every time I go on a trip by air, she has insisted that I take out $125,000 in flight insurance. What do you think of this?" —Just Wondering.

Dear Just Wondering: I see nothing wrong in this, as long as your wife doesn't insist on packin your suitcase herself.

Once Over

Ben Hur won the most nominations for the Oscar as the best movie of the year. It won in a gallop. Ben should insist upon honorable mention for the horses and let Messala take a bow for trying. It will be a terrific novelty to see the Oscar given to a movie which can be understood without Freud and has no sex problems. Anybody can see Ben Hur without asking, "What's it all about?" This alone makes it extraordinary.

This is the third movie of the story and should be called the "Son of Ben Hur's Son." War was hell to Sherman but not to his fellow-general, Lew Wallace, who came out of it to create Ben Hur. Wallace was with U.S. Grant at Donelson and Shiloh. Grant landed in the White House.

Wallace landed in Broadway, Hollywood and on almost every bookshelf in America. In one famous battle Grant charged Wallace with taking the wrong road. He might have had Ben Hur on his mind and headed for ancient Rome.

Lew wrote Ben Hur after the war. If he had written it before and there had been movies there would have been no conflict.

Now For the Results

By Thursday, at least, Congressman Wayne Hays should have on his desk in Washington the petition of Salem merchants, industrialists and other businessmen requesting immediate action on repairs and improvements to the rapidly-deteriorating Salem Post Office building.

The congressman reported six weeks ago that the General Services Administration expected to advertise sometime in March for bids on work planned at the local Post Office but he also solicited the petition as an expression of genuine local interest in getting improvements to the federal building.

The petition has been forwarded by the Chamber of Commerce, which circulated it. Now we will await the results which, we hope, will not be too far distant.

By H. I. Phillips

Armies on both sides would have been signed up as "extras" in the Hollywood picture.

"Anatomy of a Murder" is high up on the Oscar nominations and we think Joseph Welch should get an Oscar for the best performance given by a survivor of the McCarthy-Armey case.

"The Last Angry Man" is also a nomination. It is not, as widely supposed, a study of Castro on the air or Ike at a press conference on rockets. An Oscar to Ben Hur should be presented from chariots crossing the stage at top speed. The ceremonies have often been dull. This one should be exciting, especially if somebody gets up, claims a foul by Ben Hur and wants him disqualified and Messala placed first.

DOCTORS ARE TO HAVE their own newspaper. They think they are as entitled as anybody else to know what they're doing.

Thurber Carnival, Broadway smash hit, kills the idea that revue sketches must be written and produced through blood, sweat and tears. Here is a show at last which looks as if it had been done by people who could relax.

When inventory piles up, salesmen are told to get out there and give customers the hard sell, which is euphemistic for strong-arming them into buying more than they need need or can use to any good advantage.

It isn't only the kids of the country who are ballooning up with blubber. There are many kinds of surplus lying around. Special programs are aimed at consumers of all ages and of all things.

If you come down to it, that was the significance of payola — that people, chiefly adolescents, could be conned into paying money for something they didn't need and didn't want. It was a soft touch for hard sellers, and they cleaned up on it.

The upshot of it was that Americans paid serious attention for change to their moral flabbiness, just as this Dr. Garn is asking them to think briefly about letting kids ingest a diet used to create obesity in laboratory rats.

Tax Relief and Economic Growth

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

Taxes, taxes, taxes. This topic may well dominate conversations in the weeks ahead.

I'm not going to stick my neck out regarding any predictions on tax cuts this year. Instead, I'd like to know what you might do if more of the dollars you send to Uncle Sam were yours to spend or save.

Some members of Congress feel that if the tax burden were lower for you and me our spending would be larger and that if business were taxed at a lower rate it would speed spending for expansion and diversification.

This theory contends that when spending increases, the government profits by getting more money and that when there is a shortage of savings, money for investment in housing and industrial expansion is limited.

SEVERAL TAX BILLS in Congress now support this theory. Best known of these is the Herlong-Baker bill which, over a 5-year period, would drop the lowest personal tax rate to 15 per cent instead of the present 20 per cent and put a ceiling of 47 per cent on the top personal and corporate rate.

Over the same 5-year period, this bill would reduce by about 25 per cent the maximum time required for companies to write off depreciation charges on plant and equipment. It would also allow tax-free transfer of capital by individuals from one investment to another subject to a time element with no capital gains tax. It would cut top estate taxes from 77 to 47 per cent, gift taxes from 57.75 per cent to 35.25 per cent with intermediate rates in proportion.

Often I think of our economy as a mechanism delicate to balance, if indeed it ever really gets balanced. I'm in favor of the theory behind the Herlong-Baker bill, but I'm wondering whether the formula is not a bit too stiff.

EVEN THOUGH money now is tight, I don't think many companies are being restricted from building a better mousetrap for lack of green stuff.

I don't think that if the vast majority of us had more coins to jingle we'd be eating better or getting our home loaded with many more appliances. I do think, however, that we might be saving more.

I'm not for singling out relief for special groups at the expense of others, but I would like to see tax burdens eased for oldsters living on fixed incomes and for parents anxious to provide college educations for their youngsters.

A modification of the Herlong-Baker bill might well accomplish the goals we seek—greater economic growth with price and wage stability, more incentive to earn and to provide more and better job opportunities.

HOW DOES the government currently spend your federal tax dollar?

Tax Foundation, Inc., reports that if you are a $5,000-a-year man paying an estimated $420 in taxes, $240 of those dollars go to insure our national security; $51 for interest on debt; $29 each for veterans' services and benefits and agriculture. Labor and welfare needs take $25; commerce and housing $14; international affairs $12; with $10 each going for general government expenditures.

Embezzler Receives Three-Year Sentence

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Edna E. Arndt, bank teller convicted of embezzling $107,402, has been sentenced to a reformatory, but authorities still are wondering where the money went.

U. S. District Judge Paul Jones told Miss Arndt he was "sure we have not obtained all the truth about your actions."

Sentencing the 44-year-old Cuyahoga Falls woman to three years in Federal Women's Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., Judge Jones said Monday he hoped she would get psychiatric observation there that would bring her to cooperate in clearing up the case.

He said $78,000 of the funds embezzled from the Cuyahoga Falls branch of the First National Bank of Akron had not been accounted for. Miss Arndt testified she burned some money in the fireplace of her home.

'King Midas' To Be Given Saturday

Mt. Union College Thespians To Entertain Students Here

The Mount Union College Drama Department will present "King Midas and the Golden Touch" to pupils from Salem's five public grade schools and one parochial school on Saturday.

Sponsored by the elementary principals, the play will be given at 10 a.m. in the Junior High School auditorium. The showing will be open to children in kindergarten through grade 6 and their parents. Paul Smith, superintendent of Schools, said there will be no ticket sales at the door. "All tickets must be purchased from the elementary principals or teachers," he said.

The performance, put on by 16 Mt. Union students, has a dual purpose, Mr. Smith said. First, it will acquaint the pupils with methods of transferring written stories into dramas and, secondly, it will give them training in audience behavior.

William Robertson, head of the Mt. Union drama department, said the show is completely "portable." He said the only thing required from the host is a stage. "We provide everything else," he said. If a good response is shown to this production, the department hopes to repeat the venture in following years with more out of town trips, Robertson said.

GOP Women Plan For Card Party

In these trying times people always enjoy humorous books. Two such books are:

"Dear Dead Days" by Charles Addams. A collection of 145 photographs of "dear dead days" by the cartoonist whose name has become linked with such things as haunted houses and vampire women.

"Stories and Satire" by Sholem Aleichem. Nineteen stories and one act plays from a master of acknowledged Yiddish humor. All the selections deal with the Yiddish world and its inhabitants.

FICTION

"Malignant Stars" by Jerome

Barry. A murder committed because of malignant stars, and Signe Ericson was dead, but mightn't the failure letter in the typewriter be merely misdirection?

"Necessary End" by Anita Black. Scott Powell, head of a pharmaceutical company, suffers a heart attack. Then Cathy Powell knows she can induce him to retire and live frustrated and bored, or in order to save his company for their son, perhaps at the price of his own life.

"The Strange One" by Fred Bodsworth. The love affair of Kania, an educated Cree Indian girl, and Rory Macdonald is resolved happily through symbolism of a wild barnacle goose which Kory, preparing to be a naturalist has handed.

"Strike for a Kingdom" by Menna Gallie. A miner's murder, a strike, and a manhunt in Wales in 1926 provide the background for this story of despair and violence.

"Wilder Stone" by John Leggett. Wilder Stone at forty knew he was a failure, not from lack of ability but from lack of drive. Now that his pay was cut his family were making demands, Bibi said he must marry her or give her up, and his twelve-year old motherless son was distraught because of a broken promise.

"Send Another Hearse" by Harold Q. Masur. A new Scott Jordan mystery, concerning murder and a client who is being sued for damages by a writer.

"Leslie Takes the Skyroad" by Patricia O'Malley. A book of romance telling what is involved in being a stewardess in the jet age.

"Bitter Water" by Thomas Thompson. Swensen O'Brien brought windmills to drought-cursed Texas and his partner brought a dowsing rod. They were welcomed with derision and violence but in the end O'Brien won out at a price.

"One Man's Enemies" by Seldon Truss. Mr. Horace, a London reporter inherits a tavern from his uncle. He is suspected of having killed him to get it, and soon has more corpses on his hands, and a vicar's daughter eager to help him find the killer.

"Swan Song" by Helen Robertson. Lucy was in the Wild Swan country to take care of Nancy's son. Then she heard that Nancy died from a cruel trap and that the wild swans were disappearing from their haunts.

Ravens inhabiting the grounds of the Tower of London are fed and watered daily no matter how strict the food rationing. The superstition arose, during the reign of Charles II, that if the ravens were to disappear, the British Empire would collapse. These ungainly creatures, each with one wing clipped to prevent escape, have been pampered ever since and old birds are replaced from time to time by younger ones from the forests.

U.S. Plane Crash Survivors Rescued

GRANADA, Spain (AP) — A Spanish rescue team fought its way through a blinding snowstorm today to bring to safety 10 of 24 survivors aboard a U.S. Navy plane that crash-landed high in the Sierra Nevada. No one was killed in the crash.

The 10 were reported unhurt although previous reports, brought down the mountain Tuesday night by two other survivors after an eight-hour struggle, had said all of the remaining 22 aboard the four-motor plane were injured.

Only five of the 12 still to be brought down are injured, the rescue team reported, and their injuries are not serious.

Rescue teams from all of the surrounding villages had battled throughout the night in an effort to reach the big C54, which crash-landed in heavy fog while en route from Naples, Italy, to the U.S. naval base at Rota, Spain.

The crash happened in one of the most rugged and inaccessible sections of the Sierra Nevada.

Retired Policeman Was Stark Prober

CLEVELAND (AP) — A retired Cleveland policeman did the undercover work that led to the closing of two major gambling establishments in Canton Jan. 27, it was reported today.

But, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy said he has released John H. Jones as a special investigator. McElroy said:

"We are in the grand jury phase of our investigation now and feel it necessary to cut back our forces and expenses."

Jones, a colorful and controversial figure during his 33 years with the Cleveland Police Department, was paid $45 a day for his undercover work in Canton. Of that, $25 was regarded as expense money.

Jones, 65, worked as a special investigator since last August. State authorities followed in Jones' trial and raided two important clearing house headquarters and arrested 27 men in Canton. The raids were led by assistant Atty. Gen. Joseph H. Ralston, who termed the establishments "important spots in the Stark County number operation."

Akron Police Hold Man In Huge Fraud

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 39-year-old Akron man, arrested on a drunk driving charge, may be the key to unlocking an insurance swindle that could run up to $200,000. The Akron Beacon Journal reported today.

The newspaper said the man carried papers with him when he was arrested and a team of detectives was attempting to connect them with auto accident claims involving an insurance company.

The company reportedly has sustained losses in adjusting false or inflated auto accident claims in recent years. The Assn. Casualty & Surety Underwriters uncovered the purported fraud.

John S. Ballard, Summit County prosecutor, said today: "This case is getting far bigger than first believed."

He said he would turn over the entire case to the grand jury as soon as all the evidence is compiled.

Council, K. of P. Agree On Purchase

Trustees of the Knights of Pythias and city council men met in Council chambers Tuesday night to make necessary arrangements for the city's purchase of the K. of P. lodge hall immediately south of City Hall.

Purchase of the property was proposed last week by Councilman Fred Koenreich, chairman of the finance and appropriations committee.

Under the conditions worked out by Council and the K. of P. last night, purchase of the property will be made in two years, half of the $15,000 asking price this year and the other half next year.

Mr. Koenreich said the K. of P. will stay in the building probably for the next four months until they can relocate in other quarters. During that time they will pay insurance fees and taxes on the property. Koenreich noted that the Knights exchanged the privilege of staying in the building for a short time for the two-year pay plan.

Council, which has appropriated $7,500 and will earmark a similar amount next year to pay for the property, wants the ground for possible future expansion of City Hall or for parking facilities.

Actors' Strike Idles Much of Film Industry

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Although the actors' strike has idled a vast portion of what Hollywood reverently calls The Industry the movies' stepchild, TV, is thriving.

Ironically, television caused the dispute which led the 14,000-member Screen Actors Guild to go on strike against the major movie studios.

An estimated 10,000 studio employees now are working on TV film series and on films by independent producers who already have come to terms with SAG. The guild has a separate contract with the studios covering production of films for television. Due to expire March 31, it has been extended for 60 days.

Before the actors' walkout Monday, TV films already were supplying more employment than were the eight so-called theatrical pictures on which production had to be halted, the SAG said. However, TV pay rates are lower than theatrical rates.

The key issue in the strike is the actors' demand for a share in the profits of post-1948 movies sold to TV. The major studios say this would be paying an actor twice for the same job. The actors' reply, in effect, is that studios also are getting paid twice when they sell films to TV.

Two efforts to end the strike were launched Tuesday.

Federal mediator Jules Medoff sought to bring both sides together at the bargaining table.

The guild huddled with a half-dozen craft unions to determine if their demands for a share in TV residuals could be combined into a smaller package more acceptable to the producers.

Both efforts faced formidable barriers, particularly the contention by the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers that the issue of additional payments to actors or other employees is not negotiable.

burglaries in the Canton and Youngstown area followed.

"Insurance underwriters indicate for less than it would cost to operate the burglar alarm system," DiSalle replied. "The director went along with the recommendation. The burglar alarm system hasn't been perfect. We had losses with it."

"We still feel that policing is still the responsibility of local officials," the governor said.

Kennedy

showed that Kennedy pulled more than twice as many votes there as Kefauver had in 1956. Kennedy received 28,332 as against Kefauver's 12,085 four years ago.

The cities, although largely Democratic, gave Nixon 19,362 votes, topping Eisenhower's total of 13,556.

The Massachusetts senator even pulled some Republican votes.

The dimensions of Kennedy's victory took on added significance by comparison to the last two New Hampshire primaries.

In the 1952 primary, the Republicans cast about 77 per cent of the total vote. Four years later, they racked up 65 per cent. The spread in Tuesday's election was about 55-45 per cent between the two parties, with the Republicans on top.

As expected, Nixon and Kennedy scooped up all the delegates to their respective nominating conventions — 14 Republicans each with a full vote, and 22 Democrats who share 11 votes.

Efforts on the part of admirers of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to roll up a sizeable vote for him failed to bear fruit.

The governor, who did not enter the race and therefore was not on the ballot, received 2,512 write-in votes for president in 257 of the 300 precincts. Another 1,700 write-in votes were cast for him for vice president.

Paul C. Fisher, Chicago manufacturer, who ran against Kennedy on the Democratic ballot got 5,682 votes in the tally of 251 precincts.

Several factors affected the election.

1. Kennedy campaigned hard in the state in the last three days before the election. Members of his family, including his mother and two of his brothers, stumped the state earlier.

2. Nixon did not appear in New Hampshire. His campaign, however, was spearheaded by Gov. Wesley Powell and most of the leading Republicans in New Hampshire.

3. A sharply worded exchange of charges and retorts probably steamed up interest among voters who previously had been apathetic. On the day before the election, Powell accused Kennedy of being "soft toward communism." Kennedy hit back with a denial and the assertion that he believed Nixon would repudiate Powell's charge. The vice president, through one of his aides, did so.

Kennedy headed directly for Wisconsin where he is engaged in a struggle against Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) in the primary election, April 5.

Kennedy's victory in New Hampshire was expected — although the vote exceeded the hopes of his most optimistic backers.

Mine

prisoned were believed to be, until the fires were practically out.

Officials theorized that the slate fall that triggered the 200-foot long blockade broke a trolley wire which ignited coal and timbers.

Black from burrowing through coal and dirt in a 14-inch ventilation passage, Willis Carter, 46, and Kyle Blair, 29, told how they crawled on their bellies for nearly three hours in a dramatic escape.

Carter, whose brother James is one of those trapped, said eight or 10 other workers also could have escaped.

"I tried to get them to follow me, but they wouldn't listen," said Carter, who is responsible for ventilation at the mine.

Carter figured the two crawled 2,240 feet through the narrow tunnel. He said some of the men remained behind on orders from their foreman.

For a time after the accident, the trapped men were safe in a well-ventilated area. They talked by telephone with those on the outside. Then the phone went dead, presumably because a cable burned.

California, W. Virginia Leap First Tourney Hurdles

Bears Trounce Idaho State

Navy Is Victim Of Mountaineers

By The Associated Press
California's defending champion Bears and the hustling Mountaineers of West Virginia, one-two in last year's NCAA basketball tournament, are over their first hurdle in their drive for another title showdown.

Defense-minded Cal, a 71-70 winner over West Virginia in the NCAA championship game in 1959, routed Idaho State 71-44 Tuesday night while West Virginia, with All-America Jerry West better than ever, whipped Navy 94-86.

Both were among six first-round games played in the sprawling NCAA eliminations in San Francisco, New York and Lexington, Ky. West Virginia's triumph over Navy came in an Eastern regional tripleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden in which powerful New York U. downed Connecticut 78-59 and Duke's Atlantic Coast Conference champs overwhelmed Ivy League king Princeton, 84-60.

In Lexington, Western Kentucky routed 10th-ranked Miami (Fla.) 107-84—missing the single game NCAA scoring high by one point, and Ohio U., champion of the Mid-American Conference, upset Notre Dame 74-66 in first-round games in the Midwest regional.

California's victory, the Bears' 25th in 26 games this season and 41st in their last 42 starts, came at San Francisco in a first-round game of the Western regional.

All six winners advance to regional semifinals this weekend, when the bulky NCAA field will be chopped to the four survivors for the national semifinals and finals at San Francisco March 18 and 19.

Two games tonight will complete the line-up for the four regional semifinals this Friday and Saturday at Charlotte, N.C., Louisville, Manhattan, Kan., and Seattle, New Mexico State, the Border Conference champ, plays Oregon at Corvallis, Ore., with the winner advancing to the Seattle regional. In Manhattan, Kan., Kansas and Kansas State, co-champs of the Big Eight Conference, meet in a one-game playoff to determine the league's NCAA representative at the Manhattan regional.

Here's the way it looks now for Friday and Saturday:
Eastern at Charlotte, N.C.—West Virginia (25-4) vs NYU (20-3); St. Joseph's (Pa.) (19-5) vs Duke (16-10). (St. Joseph's first round bye).

Midwest at Louisville—Ohio U. (17-7) vs Georgia Tech (21-5); Western Kentucky (20-6) vs Ohio State (21-3). (Georgia Tech, Ohio State first round byes).

Midwest at Manhattan, Kan.—Cincinnati (25-1) vs DePaul (16-6); Texas (18-6) vs Kansas-Kansas State winner. (Cincinnati, Texas, and Big Eight champ first-round byes).

West at Seattle—California (25-1) vs Santa Clara (21-8); Utah (25-2) vs New Mexico State-Oregon winner. (Santa Clara first round bye).

30 days in jail is not too much!
This little bit of inspiration comes from an item in the Salem News recently.

Knox Township constable Merle Hardy, seeing a bunch of rubbish dumped along the highway on 12 St. stopped to investigate. Scratching among the debris he found the name and address of an Alliance resident and proceeded to bring the offender into the County Court.

THE OFFENDER was found guilty with a fine and costs imposed.

What this constable has done can be duplicated in other parts of the County and St. Clair Township in particular. Take a look behind the guard rails of most any of the township roads and along Little Beaver Creek and see the mess for yourself.

Scratch around and find names and addresses of the dumpers as I have done and if this sufficient evidence for arrests then why not?

AT WESTVILLE LAKE where I live we have an Alliance concern that hauls our garbage for the small fee of $1 per month. Isn't there a city garbage disposal available for all city residents? Rural dwellers want none of your garbage and other rubbish.

I admire the Mahoning County farmer that happened to see a Youngstown resident dump a bag of rubbish on his farm. He happened to get his auto license number.

Engagement Rumor Denied By Miss Heiss

NEW YORK (AP)—Carol Heiss, the 20-year-old world and Olympic figure skating champion, gets the city's traditional ticker tape parade up Broadway today amid rumors that she may announce her engagement to another figure skater.

There has been talk that Carol, a blonde New York University junior, would marry Hayes Alan Jenkins, the 1956 Olympic figure skating champion and now a lawyer in Akron, Ohio.

But Carol denied — or almost denied — it all.

"I'm not even going steady," she said. "Maybe within the next five years I might become engaged, but not now. I can't be linked romantically with anyone."

She added that she hasn't seen Jenkins since Thanksgiving Day.

But if she does become engaged, would it be to Jenkins?

"Not necessarily."

Carol said she has only one definite plan and that's to rest. "I don't even know what I'm going to be doing the day after tomorrow let alone plan for the future," she said. "Usually, I rest a couple of weeks, then start training again for the next competition. This time, though, I'm going to rest a lot longer."

She also has not been swayed toward a professional career, although her coach, Pierre Brunet, said she has received "dozens" of offers from ice shows and movie studios.

"I am tired of having lived out of a suitcase for the last seven weeks," she commented. "I don't think I could stand living out of one for 42 weeks a year. I like to live a normal life and I don't think that's normal."

'59 Was Good To Bell After Miserable '58

By RUFUS LIDE

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Gus Bell doesn't care for the idea his shining performance last season for Cincinnati's Reds was a "comeback."

But he'll admit he didn't get all the bad breaks in 1959 that came the year before.

Troubles came fast for Bell in 1958—injuries, illness, slumps. His batting average skidded to .252. His morale fell to zero.

"I thought I had come to the end," Bell related Tuesday at spring training camp here. "I had blood poison and I began to envision all sorts of horrible things."

But came 1959. Bell hit .293—raising his lifetime average to .287. He drove in over 100 runs and hit 19 homers.

And another mark passed, unnoticed in the welter of baseball statistics. Bell posted a string of 199 errorless games from May 4, 1958, to Aug. 13, 1959.

Birdie Tebbets, who used to run the Reds on the field, said "Gus is the most underrated outfielder in the league."

He doesn't get his just due because he doesn't play in New York."

The current Cincinnati manager, Fred Hutchinson, is a little less enthusiastic. He said, "He's one-third of the best outfield in the league."

Bell said he has tried to keep in trim with heavy winter workouts but he said he hasn't set any high goals.

"Just go up there, swing and hope for the best," he said. "I do know I have to do a little better for I've found out my family is eating more and if they want to eat I have to get busy."

The Bells have six children. A seventh is expected in early summer.

Sports Glances

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

The proposal by officials of the Salem Junior Baseball Program to add varsity baseball to the high school athletic program has failed to rally much support among members of the school's athletic board who could make such a plan a reality.

The SJBPA thought it had eliminated the major objections to adding baseball when it offered to supply uniforms and all equipment necessary to support the program. These people are finding out, however, that money is not the only, or in fact the uppermost, reason that baseball is being kept out of Salem High.

There are such other problems and obstacles as the short playing season, bad weather, hiring of coaches, making up a schedule, etc.

BUT, THE BIGGEST obstacle of all to a baseball program at Salem High is the track lobby. These people are dead set against any program which will compete with track for players.

Supporters of baseball and there are many as indicated by the large number of students and parents who signed a petition recently circulated on the subject, argue that baseball will not be competing with track for players. They contend that there are enough boys in the school who want to play baseball who have no intentions of going out for track.

The track lobby will not buy this. TRACK COACH Karl Zellers believes that varsity baseball should be kept out of the high school. "Baseball doesn't complement any other sport," Zellers told the Booster Club at a recent meeting.

"You don't have to be in condition to play baseball like you do track," he commented. Zellers says that if boys are given the chance to choose between baseball and track, many of them will take baseball "because they don't need to work so hard to get into condition for that sport."

"There are plenty of opportunities for boys to play baseball in this town during the summer," Zellers remarked. "If the Boosters push baseball in the high school," he said, "I think they will be hurting the athletic program."

The track coach is not alone in this contention. Athletic Director Fred Cope is one of the others who strongly believe that track should not have to compete with baseball for players.

AT ITS LAST meeting, the high school athletic board dumped the decision on varsity baseball into the lap of Supt. Paul Smith. The superintendent says that he has not ruled out varsity baseball, but he is inclined to believe that "A good intramural program would be more to the point."

A good intramural program, not only in the high school but in all of the city's schools, is sorely needed. However, if supporters of baseball accept all of the arguments being put up against participation in the sport, there will be no varsity baseball in Salem High as long as memories still linger of the Salem Night Relays.

Gordon Hopes to Find Spot For Hard-Hitting Norm Cash
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The training camp performance of a gentleman named Norm Cash, recently of Chicago, has Cleveland Indians manager Joe Gordon wondering how he can get the husky first baseman into his lineup.

Cash smashed a long triple and a double to drive in four runs in the first intrasquad game Tuesday. The game was won 6-2 by Red Kress' Apaches over the Pimas of Jo-Jo White.

"I wish I could find a spot for him," Gordon said. "If he played regularly he'd hit a minimum of 20 home runs, and I think he'd hit for a respectable average, too."

Cash, from the White Sox in a trade that also brought Bubba Phillips and John Romano, has been the Indians' longest hitter this spring. But with Vic Power at first base, Tito Francona in left field and Rocky Colavito in right, there appears to be no room for the 25-year-old Texan.

Cash is listed on the roster as an outfielder, but has had little experience at that position. Gordon expressed satisfaction with several other individual performances during the game. He singled out Mike De La Hoz, Steve Jankowski and Phillips, all of whom made notable infield plays.

Tribe Battles Rage For Two Positions

By CHUCK SUCH

at the Cleveland Indians' training camp here is that the Tribe's opening day lineup is all set — with the possible exceptions of center field and catching.

The rest of the players will be fighting it out for bench space. It should be an interesting battle for the two open positions. Catcher Russ Nixon and Johnny Romano may end up alternating with Romano batting against left-handed pitching and Nixon against right handers.

There aren't two more determined players in camp than Jim Piersall and Carroll Hardy. Both realize that this could be the turning points in their baseball careers.

Piersall never has been more serious in his life as he works hard in an effort to earn the regular job in center field. If he doesn't make it, it could mean the beginning of a slide out of baseball.

Hardy knows that if he doesn't make an impression this year, he may never make the grade.

Manager Joe Gordon is high on the youngsters in camp this spring. "I think we've got the best looking bunch of young ball players I've ever seen in one camp," Gordon stated.

"We're through with our conditioning program and now we begin grading these kids in earnest," Gordon added.

While there's a good chance that Piersall and Hardy will be platooning in center field, Gordon would like to settle the issue definitely.

If neither shows much at the plate, Bubba Phillips, a fleet-footed guy with a lot of all-around ability, could be shifted to center and Rookie Gene Leek and George Trickleland may be given a chance to fight it out at third base.

Toast of the Cleveland Indians camp is 6-foot-6 Walter Bond, a 200-pound Negro youth who bats left handed and really belts the ball when he gets hold of it.

He pulls the ball very well, remarkable for a rookie, and has tremendous power.

Tuesday, he had all eyes on him as he stepped into the batting cage. He belted two possible doubles and two out of the park in four consecutive swings before blooming one to center field.

The other day he belted one which some swear went into orbit. Bond is 22 years old and may be still two years away from the major leagues. But he hits the ball the way Luke Easter did.

He's on the Mobile (AA) roster. The Cleveland coaching staff is pleasantly surprised at the "new" Jim Piersall who is in camp this year. He's as serious as the rawest rookie and twice as determined.

There's no horseplay for Piersall. You hardly know he's here. He just works and works hard. Last year he was the clown of the camp.

This is undoubtedly one of the most relaxed camps anywhere. There's just a relaxed feeling about it. But very noticeable are the efforts of John Temple, second baseman acquired in a trade with Cincinnati.

He puts everything he's got into everything he does. He's amazing to watch.

Ohio U. Ousts Notre Dame

Western Kentucky Massacres Miami

Ohio State has steered clear of basketball competition against any other schools in the state for years now, but there's a fair chance they'll take to the court Saturday night with one — surprising Ohio University.

The underdog Bobcats, after shaking off first half stage fright, pumped off Notre Dame, 74-61, at Lexington, Ky., in the opener of the Midwest Regional of the NCAA basketball tournament Tuesday night.

Now "all" that's needed to bring the two Buckeye teams together in a clash for the regional title is for OSU to beat Western Kentucky and Ohio U. to spill powerful fireworks at Friday night's semifinals at Louisville.

Western Kentucky demonstrated Tuesday night that Ohio State's task Friday may be a tough one. The Hilltoppers merely massacred nationally 10th-ranked Miami, Fla., 107-84, in the second half of the doubleheader at Lexington.

Meanwhile, in Kansas City, Finlay kept Ohio alive in the NAIA tournament by besting Pittsburgh, (Kan.) State, 76-61. Pittsburgh had been seeded ninth in the 32-team field. Findlay faces Wofford of Spartansburg, S. C., in a second round match tonight.

Ohio U. (17-7) and Notre Dame battled through six ties and 11 lead changes in the first half, which ended with the Irish on top 32-31. But Bunk Adams' layup at the outset of the second half put the Mid-American Conference champs in front, and they stayed there in eliminating the at-large entry.

Howard Jolliff, 6-6 junior from Canton, was the standout for the Bobcats, crumpling in 29 points and hauling in 16 rebounds. Larry Kruger helped out with 22 points.

Fast breaks and a sagging defense did the job for Ohio as it opened a 50-39 lead, then after seeing it trimmed to 58-57, spread it to 72-60. Bobcat coach Jim Snyder explained that "at the half-time, we decided to run. Notre Dame appeared tiring in the last 10 minutes of the first half."

The Ohioans shot a neat 483 from the field and outbounded the Irish.

Findlay served up a well balanced attack, four starters hitting between 13 and 19 points. The Oilers led Pittsburgh 33-29 at the half and gradually pulled away.

The big noise in Class AA action in a Tuesday program restricted to four Central District tussles at Columbus was the sidelining of top-seeded Columbus East. Washington Court House (16-5) turned the trick in a major upset, 61-58.

East (17-5), capital city league champion — and 1951 state AA king — boasted a 57-47 lead with 5:30 to play. But Coach Gene Millard's Blue Lions didn't know they were beat. The Courthouse, who shared the South Central Ohio League crown with three other teams, streaked for 12 points in a row to go in front, 59-57, and doggedly held on.

In the other AA games, Newark (18-3) remained in the running for the state title Wildcat quintets won in 1936, 1938 and 1943 by hurdling London, 69-48; Columbus Linden McKinley (18-3) whipped Circleville, 46-34, and Grandview of Columbus (12-9) thumped Grove City, 75-57.

Granville, seventh - ranked in the AP's Class A poll, stayed undefeated through its 23rd game when it outclassed Johnstown, 63-43, at Denison University. But Northwestern of Union County, only once beaten before, was spilt by six-time loser Radnor, 46-42, in Marion Class A action.

Cuyahoga Heights tripped Braceville, 62-51, in a Class A game, the only other game of a night that saw the Class AA field reduced to 76 teams, the Class A group to 60—from an original 432 and 561 respectively.

The tempo picks up again tonight, with eight more AA clubs and 13 of the smaller schools facing extinction in district competition at 13 sites.

The only poll top-tensers (seven in AA, eight in A still survive) scheduled tonight are No. 2 rated New Boston (23-0), which faces Buford at Piketon, and No. 6 Lowellville (21-1) which vies with Akron St. Mary at Canton, in Class A games.

Jockey Johnny Longden is in his 31st season as a race rider. His victories total more than 5,000.

Q—How extensive was the Boston Massacre?

A—It was no massacre at all, but a street fight between a Boston mob and a squad of British soldiers. The name was invented and used to help stir the anger of crowds.

Q—Who introduced the present custom of reckoning time by counting the years from the birth of Christ?

A—The monk Dionysius Exiguus in the sixth century A.D. He miscalculated four to six years later than the actual date.

Q—What colleges comprise the "Ivy League"?

A—Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Brown, Cornell, Columbia, and Dartmouth.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you'll print my letter. Maybe it will wise up some other foolish woman who is getting bored with cooking, cleaning, laundry, kids, PTA, church work and family dinners.

I had a short-lived cheap affair—and I DO mean cheap—with a neighbor. He, too, was married but fancied himself in love with me (or so he said). I talked myself into believing that my daily existence was dull, that my husband didn't appreciate me and what I needed to restore my youth and vitality was a movie-type romance.

After three clandestine meetings
I was so disgusted with myself I couldn't bear to look in the mirror.
He told me about five affairs he had had with friends of mine. I got sick to my stomach. I knew if he told me about them, that I'd be included on his list to the next one.

I told him not to call me any more and he said: "Don't worry, I've already got the next one picked out."

I'm lucky this affair didn't cost me my home and family and I intend to spend the rest of my days making it up to them.—NO SELF RESPECT.

Young Blackmailers

Dear Ann: I'm a girl who is 15 and in deep and serious trouble.
My younger brothers who are 11 and 12 found my diary. It was locked and they couldn't locate the key but they broke it open and read it.

There is a lot of stuff in the diary that I don't want ANYBODY to know, especially my parents.
My brothers are holding this over my head like a sword. They say they will give the diary back and keep still for $2 apiece.

I have the money but it burns me up to have to buy back something that belongs to me. Yet my parents would have a fit if they knew some of the things I've written. What shall I do?—SICK IN-SIDE.

Dear Sick: Don't give those little blackmailers 4 cents. Tell them to return your diary at once or you'll tell your parents what they are up to.

Far better to risk parental wrath than to cave in to the demands of your brothers. Paying off would contribute to the moral disintegration of your brothers and they would only shake you down again and again.

In-Law Trouble

Dear Ann: Three years ago I got married. The first year we had a baby boy. I had just finished my hitch in the Army and didn't have anything, so we rented a couple of rooms.

My wife's mother said we couldn't keep the baby in such a place because it was drafty and we had to share a bathroom with two other roomers. So we let her take the boy until we could get on our feet.

We now have a cute little house and my wife is pregnant again.
My mother-in-law won't give the boy up. She says this child is her whole life and she will die of heartbreak if we take him. She tells my wife we can have a big family and never miss this first one.
My son calls me Uncle Tim and my mother-in-law "Mama." My wife is a wreck because she wants the boy home with us but she's afraid her mother will have a heart attack or maybe even kill herself.
What shall we do?—IN THE MID-DLE.

Dear In: Get your son at once and quit horsing around. This boy belongs with you and his mother.

If your mother-in-law wants to lavish love and affection on a youngster, suggest she take one or two foster children into her home. Your local welfare agency will help her.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems.
Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

NAMED TO DEAN'S LIST

Edwin S. Griffiths has been named to the dean's list for academic achievement during the fall semester of 1959 at Amherst College. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Arwyn
D. Griffiths of Chestnut Grove Road, he is a freshman at Amherst and a graduate of Western Reserve Academy in Hudson.

BACK TO WORK—Joan Fontaine, seriously ill for a year, adopted an up-and-at-'em attitude to conquer her ailments. Back to work she went and, as she gives her all on stage and TV, her physical ills are taking second place to joys of work.

Four Sentenced for Murder to Get Paroles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four men whose first-degree murder convictions were commuted by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle in December will be paroled from Ohio Penitentiary on April 7.

Included were:
Edgar Burton, 50, of Kentucky received May 19, 1928, for the fatal shooting of Scioto County Deputy Sheriff Henry Bending. The deputy was attempting to question Burton and a companion about a cutting incident.

Frank Sedar, 39, of Cleveland, received June 19, 1937, for the fatal beating of Hobart Stewart, officer in charge of the power plant at Lancaster Boys' Industrial School, during an escape attempt.
Ira Walker, 75, of Chillicothe, received Dec. 17, 1938, for the shooting of Fred Turner in a quarrel over a woman.

The Pardon and Parole commission also granted a parole, effective May 6, to William Lyons, 35, of Pike County, received Feb. 6, 1945, for second-degree murder in the shooting of Robert Daniels, 68, his great-uncle, during a quarrel over money.

The commission granted 111 paroles at the penitentiary, re-paroled 25, revoked 24 and continued 63 cases.
